Pyweek is a competition (Not that the competing part really matters that much) to make a game in a week. I had a go at it and actually succeeded in creating an entry - you may find it here - <http://pyweek.org/e/Wibble/>. Obviously its hardly the best as it was made in a week, I even turned up at uni and did a full days work on 3 of the days, but its kinda fun and very topical. Certainly, I'm pleased with the result.
